HTC to Cut 1,500 Jobs in Taiwan
2023/07/16

Taiwanese smartphone maker HTC plans to slash the workforce in its native country by more than one-fifth in yet another restructuring move. The electronics company said the cuts would amount to about 1,500 factory workers, according to Engadget, or 22 percent of its overall Taiwan-based workforce. The company, the report added, has seen sliding profits in recent years and disappointing reactions to its latest headsets. The layoffs followed Google's high-profile acquisition of a portion of HTC's smartphone division — and some 2,000 HTC engineers — last year. HTC officials said in a statement that the changes would increase its cost-efficiency and improve its financial standing.
